Semester IV
PHI-SE-4014
Critical Thinking
B.A. (Honours/Regular)

Course Description:

The course is designed to introduce and inculcate critical thinking (CT) among students with a view to developing the skill in practical contexts, this being the essence of philosophising. The skill is to be learnt and applied in writings. Thus the course is divided into two parts: (a) theory, comprised of introduction to CT and reading model critical literatures (units I & II); and (b) practical, comprised of application of the skill in writing (units III & IV).

Course Objectives:

The Course aims at developing the traits and skills of:

- seeing issues from alternative viewpoints
- reading a text both sympathetically and critically
- bridging ideas of thinkers
- developing logical rigor in building an argumentative case
- inculcating the habit of questioning, framing the right question
- applying critical standpoint in writing
- rephrasing original thoughts of others

Course Outcomes:

At the completion of the Course the student is expected to be able to:

- Analyze the original and primary ideas of various thinkers
- Write in comprehensible, unambiguous language
- Present ideas in organized, efficient, methodical ways
- Develop ancillary skills of observation, reasoning, decision making etc.
- Put forth logically sound and persuasive arguments
- Develop effective communication skill

GUIDELINES FOR PRACTICAL COMPONENT (UNIT III & UNIT IV)

- 1. Formulation of title: students will be asked to go through some related passages; then they will be asked to formulate one title to suit the main idea(s) set through the passages. In case of compiling passages from multiple texts, sufficient care is to be taken for not getting compiled conceptually unrelated passages. For example, along with a passage on Existentialism no passage on Vaishesika category of abhava can be clubbed.
- 2. Making effective notes: students will be asked to go through some passages, and then they will be asked to make one effective note highlighting the cardinal points contained in the passages. Conceptual conformity among the passages must be looked into as in case of the above point.
- 3. Paraphrasing quotes: students will be asked to paraphrase four original quoted passages in their own words. This means that students need to extend the quoted thought without altering the meaning of any word originally cited in the quote.
- 4. Framing right questions: students will be asked to go through some given passages, and will be asked to frame three right questions.
- 5. All the passages, and passages within quotes, will be chosen only from the recommended books for unit III and Unit IV.
